Kristin handles transactional tax matters at the federal, state, and local levels and represents individuals and businesses at all stages of development. Her clients turn to her for day-to-day guidance and assistance in developing strategies to address matters ranging from sales and use taxes to issues related to foreign operations. Skilled in creating practical solutions, she also advises clients in connection with mergers and acquisitions, securitizations, restructuring transactions, joint ventures, cross-border transactions, and entity formation.

She works with clients to develop domestic and foreign investment strategies while navigating the ever-changing tax laws impacting funds and their investors, including FATCA. In addition, Kristin advises tax-exempt organizations on formation, operational compliance, reporting, and unrelated business income tax matters.

Kristin is active in a variety of pro bono matters. She has provided pro bono representation to the National Women's Law Center, the Newark Charter School Fund; the Birds Nest Foundation, a nonprofit providing media content for nonprofit charities and nongovernmental organizations; and Beyond Type 1, a nonprofit that creates and funds programs for the benefit of those living with Type 1 diabetes.
