

Lowenstein Sandler's Cybersecurity Awareness Series

What Should Organizations Know About AI Governance After the Autonomous Cyber Attack Incident this Summer?

By Amy S. Mushahwar

OCTOBER 2026

Amy S. Mushahwar:

There were a lot of attacks that happened this summer!

What does this incident really tell us?

We all need to rewrite the standard operating assumption of our incident response plans.

In the event that your organization has not thought through its logging, not through the amount of processing power in order to analyze its logging, come to us. This is something that we are starting to think through for many of our clients, deploying and trying to understand frontier models and something we certainly want to make sure that you're doing as an organization.