Karen oversees the nonlegal administrative aspects of Lowenstein Sandler's Tech Group, one of the firm's pivotal practices. Her work includes marketing initiatives, client billing, budgeting, and finance. She also supervises the Tech Group's paralegals and manages the employee review process for the group.

Karen is an instrumental part of The Tech Group's iconic VentureCrush events, which bring together carefully selected groups of tech industry founders and senior executives. She oversees the event staff and marketing technology aspects of these events, as well as the website platforms for each program. Her colleagues often comment that she "keeps the trains running on time." Prior to her 10 years with The Tech Group, Karen served as the firm's billing manager in the Finance Department.
