Leanne is a member of the Corporate Department.

Her previous experience includes clerking for Environment Texas, a citizen-based environmental advocacy project, where she assessed the viability of potential lawsuits by analyzing state data on pollution events and made strategic recommendations based on the organization's resources and regulatory impact.

Leanne also interned for both a United States Congressman and the Asian Pacific Islander American Public Affairs Association, working with the national executive director on implementing voter education strategies to encourage civic engagement.

During college she was a research intern in Taipei, Taiwan, where she reviewed English and Chinese contracts to ensure compliance with clients' specifications for power plant construction projects.
