

I Lowenstein Sandler Global Connections

Lowenstein represents clients in virtually every sector of the global economy, with particular strength in the areas of technology, life sciences, and the financial management and fund industries that fuel economic growth. We have built a reputation for pursuing every matter with creativity and passion. Our industry knowledge, entrepreneurial approach, and proven commitment to our communities deliver a different and better law firm experience to our clients. Working side-by-side with our clients, we serve not only as lawyers, but as trusted advisors.

The firm ensures these capabilities through transactional and litigation practices that serve our clients' businesses with representation in complex financial matters, litigation defense, and up-to-the-minute advice on rapidly changing trade and regulatory issues.

We enhance our international service offering through close working relationships with several client-minded firms around the world—firms deeply rooted in local cultures and knowledgeable in local laws. Our affiliation with two international networks of leading independent law firms, TerraLex and World Services Group, boosts our global reach, providing capabilities on every continent.

As a member of both networks, Lowenstein has access to approximately 250 member firms in over 100 countries, representing more than 30,000 lawyers worldwide. We offer our clients business-focused local counsel in virtually every sector, regardless of national boundaries. Clients receive advice from counsel whose regional experience and deep, local connections provide an unmatched ability to address the complex needs of international clients in sophisticated matters.