Amanda served as a summer associate at Lowenstein; she gained experience working on various securities and complex commercial litigation matters.

While in law school, Amanda interned at the U.S. Attorney's Office for the Southern District of New York (SDNY), where she worked in the Violent and Organized Crime Unit. She also served as a judicial intern to the Hon. Madeline Cox Arleo of the U.S. District Court for the District of New Jersey.

During law school, Amanda worked as a teaching assistant in Legal Analysis, Writing, and Research and as a research assistant to Professor Louis A. Raveson. Her note, "Third-Party Student Surveillance: Is Monitoring Student Speech Going to Prevent the Next School Shooting?" was published in the Rutgers University Law Review (Vol. 72).

Prior to her legal career, Amanda worked in the newsroom at WJZ-TV CBS Baltimore and was a digital broadcast intern at Towson Sports Network.
